Instructions for preparing the Foreign National Information Form Wake Forest University

1. Determine which of the documents listed at the top of the FNIF apply to you and scan them or copy them for submission with your FNIF. If you entered the U.S. without a visa, copy the page of your passport with the entry date stamp (many European countries, Canada and Mexico have special waivers with no actual visa).

2. Personal information:

- a. A U.S. tax identification number is not required. If you don't have one, enter "none" in the Social Security or Individual Taxpayer Identification Number blank.
- b. U.S. telephone numbers are not required if you don't have them, leave them blank.
- c. E-mail address is important, please print carefully.
- d. The foreign address you provide should match the address provided to the Department of Homeland Security for your non-immigrant visa.

3. Passport information:

- a. We ask for this information as well as copies of your passport and visa, because these documents are sometimes written in a language we can't read.
- b. If you don't have a Visa, enter none and mark "Other" in the VISA DETAIL section.

4. Visa Detail and Primary Activity:

- a. We have listed only the most common visa types; if you have something else please indicate it in the "Other" blank.
- b. Start date for this activity is the date you first entered the country in the visa status listed. For example, if you are an F-1 student and arrived 8/22/2009, but returned home in 2011for summer vacation and got a new F-1 visa, you would still list the 2009 date as the start of your F-1 visit.
- c. The ending date is the final date on your DS-2019 or I-20, or other date by which you must return home. The projected end date is often your proposed graduation date
- d. If you are performing services for Wake Forest (whether paid an honorarium or travel and expense payments only), please complete the "consultant" section indicating the Wake Forest activity, the number of days on campus, whether you have received payments from other U.S. institutions during the previous 6 months, and whether you have a U.S. office or fixed base of operations.

5. Income types:

- a. Enter the type of payment that will be made by Wake Forest University. For travel awards, grants, participant incentives and reimbursements, please mark "Other."
- b. The amount can be estimated or left blank if unknown.
- c. If you are not receiving wages from Wake Forest University, you may leave the rest of this section blank.

Instructions for preparing the Foreign National Information Form Wake Forest University

6. Residency Verification:

- a. If you did not pay taxes in your home country only because you did not earn enough income or because you were in school, answer "yes" that you paid as a resident.
- b. Residency is where you live. If you moved from your home country to live for more than one year in another country prior to entering the United States, name the country and the date you moved. For example, a student from China moves to Canada for her undergraduate degree and lives there for four years. She returns to China for the summer after graduation and applies to a U.S. graduate program starting in the fall. The student would be a resident of Canada and a Chinese citizen. "China would be listed on page one for Citizenship and Passport issuance, but Canada would be listed here under residency. The date the student returned to China would be entered as the residency change/end date.

7. U.S. Immigration History:

- a. "Immigration status" means visa classification. If you are currently an F-1 student and have been in the U.S. as a teacher, dependent, tourist or other classification prior to being an F-1 student, please check the "yes" box.
- b. You may approximate the date of first entry. If it was many years ago, it will not be important unless you were here as an F or J student and you are returning as an F or J student. If you were a J-1 researcher many years ago and are returning as a J-1 scholar, your treaty benefits will depend on how many years are between visits.
- c. If you are a short term visitor on a tourist or business visa, or a visa waiver, and have only been in the U.S. on these types of visas, you are only required to list entry and exit data for the past 36 months.
- d. If you have prior F or J status and can't remember the dates, please try to estimate at least the years involved.
- 8. Please sign and date the form and submit it to either the department making the payment, with your request for payment to Accounts Payable, or to the Tax Department (FAS-Tax, UCC bldg.)

Foreign National Information Form Wake Forest University FAQ

- Q1. My non-immigrant status is currently changing from an H-4 (H-1 or F-2) to an F-1 student status. What do I enter in the Visa Detail section?
- A1. Enter your current status and note your new expected status in the "Other" space and the date you expect the change to occur. Provide a copy of any USCIS documentation you have.
- Q2. I am a dual citizen, which country should I use?
- A2. Use the country you lived in most recently. If you lived in that country for less than one year, make a note of that. If you have two passports, enter the one you submitted in order to get your visa. (You must list both countries if one of them is the United States.)
- Q3. I've been to the U.S. many times and I've never had to do this before! Why now? A3. Since the 9/11 attack, which was perpetrated by foreign nationals in the U.S. with proper visas, the immigration authorities have been more vigilant about who is here and why they're here. There have been withholding laws about payments to foreign nationals since 1954 (at least) and no one really worried about it because the amounts have historically been small and scarce. Over the past 6-7 years there has been an explosion of worldwide communication and travel, leading to larger and more frequent payments to foreign nationals. As the financial crisis built, the IRS began auditing this area in earnest, discovering millions of untaxed payments. Since the withholding requirement is 30% and the non-payment penalty is 100% of the tax owed, plus interest, this has been a very lucrative source of funds for the U.S. government, prompting them to increase their audits. Over the years, payors have had to begin following the withholding rules in order to reduce the risk of an expensive audit. UNC Chapel Hill was fined $4.8 million in 2004 by the IRS, which prompted an audit by the State (which has a 4% withholding requirement) that cost UNC almost a million dollars more.
- Q4. I'm coming to Wake Forest University to attend a conference, Wake is paying my travel, why is that taxable?
- A4. All payments from U.S. sources are taxable in the U.S. unless there is a special exception. The University Tax Office will search for any appropriate exclusion that might be available for your situation. If you have performed services for the university and have a letter or e-mail with an invitation and promise to pay certain amounts or expenses, please include a copy with your FNIF. If you were awarded funds to support your attendance, please include the written notification of your award.
- Q5. I came as a tourist and was promised airfare. I gave a receipt, so why it is taxable? A5. Tourism is a personal activity, so your airfare is a personal expense. The tax law says that personal expenses that are paid to you or for you are taxable income. If you came as a tourist because the visa was easier to get and you really weren't here touring, then include a detailed itinerary with your FNIF so that the Tax Office can substantiate that your tourist status was incorrect and that the purpose of your trip was for business.
- Q6. Our visitor is really important, he's the King of his country, and we can't ask him to fill out these forms! Can we directly pay for hotel, airfare, limo and meals?

Foreign National Information Form Wake Forest University FAQ

- A6. You can directly pay all expenses associated with the visit if you have a written invitation with the reason for the visit described and the costs being paid listed. This is so that you can be reimbursed or your P-Card charge can be processed.
- Q7. I have other questions! Who can I ask?
- A7. The Tax Office will try to help. E-mail tax@wfu.edu for Allison Franklin and Chris Jessie. Phone numbers are on the FAS, Tax website.
