

Tips to help you get a good start on your four year journey from College to Career

- Get comfortable with college life, especially the academic load. Figure out how to become a great student.
- Try new things. Then think about how much you like it and what other things you'd like to try. Learn from your experience to figure out if you want to go further in a direction or try another direction.
- Register on DeaconSource. The OPCD can then send you information and opportunities tailored to your interests.
- Stop by the Office of Personal and Career Development. Meet with a career counselor to get started on the right path for you.
- Do something new next summer... or at least part of the summer. Use this opportunity to learn something new about the world and about yourself. Resist the urge to go back to where you worked during high school - unless you will learn something very new there.

Office of Personal & Career Development

Career and Professional Development

Leadership Development

Mentoring Resource Center

Family Business Center

Center for Innovation, Creativity, and Entrepreneurship