

TUITION DEPOSIT – FALL 2012

A $500 non-refundable tuition deposit is required of all undergraduate students who plan to enroll for the Fall 2012 semester.

- The deposit will be applied towards the student's Fall 2012 tuition charges.
- This deposit is not a room payment or room deposit.
- Students are reminded that payment of the tuition deposit does not entitle them to registration if they have an outstanding balance with the University.
- This tuition deposit is non-refundable.

All students studying abroad during the Fall semester are required to pay a deposit.

- Non-Wake Forest Study Abroad Programs- The tuition deposit will be applied towards the study abroad enrollment fee due to Wake Forest for the Fall semester.
- Wake Forest Study Abroad Programs- If you have already been required by the program director to pay a program deposit, you are not expected to pay an additional tuition deposit.

There are several ways to pay the Fall deposit:

- Mail your check or money order made payable to Wake Forest University. Please return it with the bottom portion of this letter in the enclosed envelope. If your check includes a payment for more than the deposit, please note that on your remittance advice.
- Use a credit balance on your student account by contacting our office or by indicating this option on the below remittance and mailing in the enclosed envelope.

At this time DEAC is not setup to accept tuition deposit payments. In order to process your tuition deposit correctly, please remit payment as directed above.
