Greetings Wake Forest University Parents

College is an exciting milestone for both you and your student. It is a time of new experiences, a time of transition, and a time to stay connected. If you have already spoken with your Wake Forest student about alcohol use; however, it is a good idea to revisit the conversation. You may need to adjust your...
Holistic: 8 dimensions; Interrelated and interdependent

Mission
Thrive is Wake Forest’s comprehensive wellbeing initiative. As a venture owned by the entire campus community, Thrive engages students, faculty, and staff to better cope with adversity, build rewarding relationships and live lives with a sense of purpose. Through collaborative programs, infrastructure building, research, and services, Thrive offers the skills, knowledge and perspective necessary to maintain a healthy, harmonious, and balanced life.

What is ‘Sexual Misconduct’?

Umbrella term:

- Sexual Assault
- Domestic Violence
- Dating Violence
- Stalking
- Sexual Harassment
Sexual misconduct is a serious problem on college campuses,

- Students of all genders experience sexual misconduct,
- Most students know the person who hurt them,
- Most students choose not report to university or law enforcement officials,
- Students face many challenges after an experience of sexual misconduct, including academic, social, emotional, and physical consequences.

Students are resilient and have many opportunities for healing.
On Campus Resources

Why do confidential resources matter?

- Fear of judgement or retaliation may deter students from seeking support,
- Students regain a sense of control over their story and their experience.
The Safe Office

Confidential services including:

- 24/7 Help Line (during academic year)
- Counseling
- Advocacy & Case Management
- Accompaniment
- Crisis Response
- Safety Planning

What Can Parents Do?

Pop Quiz!

- Raise your hand if you have had conversations with your student about healthy relationships, consent and alcohol, and being a good friend.

- Raise your hand if you have shared with your student that you believe and support survivors and that if someone hurts them, it’s not their fault.

- Raise your hand if you know the campus policies and resources related to sexual misconduct and will encourage your student to do the same.
