THE HONORING OF RETIRING FACULTY

REYNOLDA CAMPUS

Wake Forest University honors Jane Aiken, J.D., for her leadership as dean of the School of Law from 2019 to 2022, guiding the School through the unprecedented challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic with steadiness and resolve; for recruiting a number of outstanding teacher-scholars and sustaining an environment where students continued to thrive; for strengthening the School's national standing through strong outcomes in enrollment, employment and bar passage; and for her scholarly contributions in legal education, women's rights and clinical pedagogy.

Wake Forest University honors Jane W. Albrecht, Ph.D., for her contributions across her 37 years as a member of the Department of Romance Languages (later the Spanish Department) and her dedicated service to Wake Forest University; for serving as a leader in the field of Spanish Golden Age theater and longtime bibliographer of Tirso de Molina and Don Juan studies; for teaching advanced classes in her discipline and intermediate Spanish with dedication and passion, thereby inspiring several generations of Spanish students; for her dedicated service to the institution, particularly in the leadership of the AAUP; and for being a loyal colleague whose dedication to teaching and research exemplifies the teacher-scholar model.

Wake Forest University honors Tom K. Aleman for coming to the School of Business after retiring from a successful career as a principal with Deloitte Risk & Financial Advisory Services, where he built and served as the U.S. national and global leader of Deloitte's Forensic & Analytic Technology practice; for helping to lead the incorporation of data analytics into the Master of Science in Accounting (MSA) Program; for bringing Accounting for the Future and STRIDE CPA Readiness to Wake Forest in partnership with Deloitte; for serving on internal committees and future-looking task forces; and for serving as a career advisor and mentor to countless MSA students.

Wake Forest University honors Paul R. Anderson, Ph.D., for 35 years of outstanding teaching, research and service to Wake Forest University as a member of the Department of Physics; for his careful and passionate lectures in quantum mechanics, electromagnetism and other subjects and his use of advanced pedagogical techniques to facilitate student learning; for his contributions in theoretical physics in the area of quantum field theory in curved space applied to black holes and cosmology for which he was named a fellow of the American Physical Society; and for his devoted mentorship of graduate and undergraduate students, ensuring that his passion for discovery and education continues to inspire future generations.

Wake Forest University honors Roger L. Beahm for over 20 years of market-focused, multi-award-winning teaching to undergraduate, graduate and executive audiences; for his partnership with Lowes Foods and other industry partners, serving as the director of the Retail Learning Labs through the School of Business' Center for Analytics Impact; for incorporating his significant, successful experience as a former marketing executive and CEO into his pedagogical approaches; for serving in countless service roles including student club advisor, faculty committee and task force member, and industry fundraising partner; for leading multiple MBA global immersion experiences around the world; for ubiquitous media citations; and for his true love and excitement for teaching and mentoring students.

Wake Forest University honors Stewart A. Carter, Ph.D., for his contributions across his 43 years as a member of the Department of Music and his dedicated service to Wake Forest University; for serving as a leader in the field of musicology and a specialist on early Western and Chinese instruments, teaching introductory and advanced courses in music history as well as the WFU Collegium and thereby inspiring several generations of musicians and scholars; for his dedicated service to the institution, particularly as chair of the Department of Music and East Asian Languages and Cultures; and for being a loyal colleague whose dedication to teaching and research exemplifies the teacher-scholar model.

Wake Forest University honors Leigh Ann Hallberg, M.F.A., for exemplifying the transformative power of dedicated teaching and artistic mentorship; for nurturing countless students throughout her distinguished career with unwavering care, technical guidance and profound artistic insight; for her life drawing classes, which became legendary for striking the perfect balance between challenge and support; for her efforts beyond formal instruction that led to the creation of an artistic community where students felt valued, supported and inspired; for her gift for teaching students not just to look but to truly see, which has influenced generations of artists and art lovers; and for building a legacy that continues to thrive through the creative accomplishments of those she mentored with extraordinary passion and dedication.

Wake Forest University honors Katy Harriger, Ph.D., for her impressive contributions across 39 years as a member of the Politics and International Affairs Department and as department chair and mentor to department colleagues; for extraordinary and wide-ranging service to the University that led to her receiving the Board of Visitors Faculty Leadership Award; for building and directing the Wake Washington program; for her commitment to and leadership of community and civil liberties organizations; for teaching, advising and inspiring generations of students, as recognized by the American Political Science Association bestowing on her its Distinguished Teaching Award; and for her nationally recognized scholarly contributions to American constitutionalism and deliberation, dialogue and democracy.

Wake Forest University honors Natalie A. W. Holzwarth, Ph.D., for 42 years of dedicated service to Wake Forest University as a member of the Department of Physics and as a model teacher-scholar; for teaching the most challenging Physics classes and spending countless hours working with individual students helping them solve equations and offering kind encouragement; for leading contributions to the field of computational modeling of materials, closely mentoring graduate students and encouraging them to always do careful research; and for being an unwavering advocate for Physics and forever dedicated to science.

Wake Forest University honors Linda S. Howe, Ph.D., for her contributions across her 32 years as a member of the Department of Romance Languages (later the Spanish Department) and dedicated service to Wake Forest University; for serving as a specialist in Cuban poetry, short stories, theater and art, teaching advanced classes in her field and intermediate Spanish with creativity and passion and thereby inspiring several generations of Spanish students; for her dedicated service to the institution, particularly her founding and directorship of the Cuba Program; and for being a loyal colleague whose dedication to students and to Cuba exemplifies the teacher-scholar model.

Wake Forest University honors Kathryn Levy for her contributions across her 37 years as a member of the Department of Music and dedicated service to Wake Forest University; for her work as a renowned flautist who taught individual instruction in flute and coached chamber ensembles, thereby inspiring several generations of musicians and scholars; for her dedicated service to the institution, particularly organizing the annual Flute Fest and overseeing the Giles-Harris Competition; and for being a loyal colleague whose dedication to teaching and research exemplifies the teacher-scholar model.

Wake Forest University honors Mary Beth Lock for her 16 years as a member of the Z. Smith Reynolds Library and her dedicated service to Wake Forest University; for serving as an engaged and valuable campus partner who connected the library's learning and research spaces with the needs of our students and faculty; for her work as a library faculty member who helped plan and launch the Conference for Entrepreneurial Librarians and served as co-editor for the book, "The Entrepreneurial Librarian"; and for her research on inclusive hiring practices, which revolutionized the way the library conducts interviews and helped make ZSR a welcoming and inclusive library for both the campus community and library employees.

Wake Forest University honors Dan Locklair, D.M.A., for his contributions across 43 years as Composer-in-Residence and as a member of the Department of Music and for his dedicated service to Wake Forest University; for his work as a renowned composer who taught introductory courses in Western music and advanced courses in composition, music theory and sacred music, thereby inspiring several generations of musicians and scholars; for his dedicated service to the institution, particularly the stewardship of its organs; and for being a loyal colleague whose dedication to teaching and research exemplifies the teacher-scholar model.

Wake Forest University honors Pat C. Lord, Ph.D., for her contributions across her 25 years as a member of the Biology Department and dedicated service to Wake Forest University; for serving as a versatile educator who taught advanced classes in many disciplines including virology and genetics as well as introductory courses with dedication and passion, thereby inspiring several generations of scientists; for her dedicated service to the institution, particularly her mentorship as Pre-Health advisor; and for being a loyal colleague who exemplified the teacher-scholar model.

Wake Forest University honors David Lubin, Ph.D., for serving over two decades with distinction as the Charlotte C. Weber Professor of Art at Wake Forest University; for his exceptional scholarship — including eight influential books and important exhibitions — which has earned him recognition as a leading voice in American art history, garnering numerous accolades; for his teaching excellence, which has inspired students, and his engaging public scholarship, which has made art history accessible beyond academia; and for using his intelligence, wit and commitment to close visual analysis to exemplify the teacher-scholar ideal, leaving an indelible mark on Wake Forest University and the field of American art.

Wake Forest University honors Barry Maine, Ph.D., for his contributions across his 44 years as a member of the English Department and dedicated service to Wake Forest University; for serving as a scholar of early 20th-century American fiction and longtime director of the Interdisciplinary Honors Program, teaching popular and inspiring courses that won him the College's two most prestigious teaching awards; for his dedicated service to the institution, particularly as department chair, associate chair, and as Judicial Liason; and for his enduring devotion to pedagogy, mentorship and departmental leadership, which exemplifies the values at the heart of the teacher-scholar tradition.

Wake Forest University honors Gordon E. McCray, Ph.D., for 30 years of thoughtful, innovative, award-winning teaching to both undergraduate and graduate students; for 16 years as a senior leader in the School of Business, including serving as associate dean, senior associate dean, executive associate dean and vice dean of academic programs; for intellectual contributions in management information systems and pedagogy; for countless service commitments to Wake Forest University and the School of Business; for dedication and passion for the arts community both on and off campus; and ultimately for his unwavering dedication to his alma mater.

Wake Forest University honors Stan Meiburg, Ph.D., for his visionary leadership of the Andrew Sabin Family Center for Environment and Sustainability, the graduate programs in Sustainability and his inspirational teaching as professor of the practice in Politics and International Affairs; for his thoughtful mentorship and teaching, which were marked by clarity, depth and care; for bringing national distinction to Wake Forest University through an exceptional career in public service at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and continued leadership in environmental policy at the state and national levels; and for his enduring contributions, which have given Wake Forest and the world a more sustainable, just and hopeful future.

Wake Forest University honors J. Robert Nations, D.Min., for his contributions across his 14 years as a member of the Department of Counseling and dedicated service to Wake Forest University; for serving as an ordained minister and licensed marriage and family therapist who explored the intersections of spirituality, religiosity and mental health, teaching advanced classes in his discipline and introductory courses with dedication and passion, thereby inspiring several generations of undergraduate and graduate students; for his dedicated service to the institution, particularly in his role as Online Program Director, a leadership role he assumed for six years; and for being a loyal colleague whose dedication to teaching, leadership and service exemplifies Pro Humanitate.

Akinyele "Yele" O. Aluko (MBA '14), Doctor of Business Administration
Carmine Di Sibio, Doctor of Business Administration
John Fiadjoe, Doctor of Science

THE WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY MACE

The Wake Forest University mace, a handsome staff decorated with scenes and symbols of the University, was first used at the inauguration of President James Ralph Scales in April 1968. It is a traditional symbol of authority and is carried at the head of the academic processions at commencement and convocations. The mace is shaped from a single sheet of silver covered with gold. It has an ebony handle. Etchings of Wait Chapel, Reynolda Hall, an arch at an entrance to the campus and the cupola on the Z. Smith Reynolds Library are on the largest, or middle, section. Pictures of the Old Campus are on the top section. On the bottom are panoramas of the medical school, Carswell Hall and the skyline of Winston-Salem. Each section is separated by raised drawings of magnolias. A double-cast seal of the University is at the top of the mace. The mace was given by the late Thomas H. Davis Sr. (LLD '84) of Winston-Salem in honor of his father, Egbert Lawrence Davis Sr. (LLB 1904).

THE PRESIDENTIAL COLLAR OF STATE

The presidential collar of state, often referred to as the presidential chain of office, is part of the academic regalia worn by the president at commencement and convocations. It is a gold-plated necklace of medallions linked by onyx-centered magnolia blossoms. On each medallion is the name of a former Wake Forest president and their years of tenure. The collar was a gift to the University in 1991 from Weston P. Hatfield ('41), a life trustee and former chair of the board of trustees.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Academic regalia apparently originated at Oxford and Cambridge more than 600 years ago. The apparel is little changed in design, colors and symbolism. In no other sector are the ancient usages of the university so unchanging. In 1895 an intercollegiate commission drafted a uniform code for the use of academic caps, gowns and hoods in the United States. Over the years there have been only minor revisions to the code, which is followed by 95 percent of the colleges and universities in America, including Wake Forest University.

There are three kinds of gowns. The bachelor's gown is a comparatively simple kind that falls in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. The master's gown is similar to the bachelor's except for its peculiar arrangement of long sleeves with square ends that hang below the elbow. The doctor's gown is an elaborate, full-cut, flowing costume distinguished by velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and by three bars of velvet on the bell-shaped sleeves.

The academic hood was first a garment to protect the wearer from foul weather. It is the identifying symbol of the degree. The length indicates which degree it represents: three feet for the bachelor's, three and a half for the master's and four for the doctoral. The lining indicates the college or university which awarded the degree. Those who receive degrees from Wake Forest wear hoods lined in old gold and black. The color of the trimming identifies the major field of learning: white for arts and letters, copper for journalism, purple for law, green for medicine, drab for business, pink for music, silver-gray for speech, dark blue for philosophy, light blue for education, sage green for physical education, golden yellow for science, cream for social science, and scarlet for theology.

The Wake Forest University trustees wear black robes with old gold and black on the front panels and the bars on the sleeves. The shield from the University seal is embroidered on the front panels.

Some universities have duplicated colors, but generally a glance at the lining, which is worn exposed, will identify the awarding institution. Some of the university colors worn today are:
