FINAL PANEL: THE ETHICS OF CHATGPT

Thank you to everyone who has attended and joined in the conversations about ChatGPT this spring!

Thursday, April 13th from 12 - 1PM will be our final panel of the series, a discussion of the ethics of ChatGPT's development and implementation with faculty experts on copyright, labor, law, and ethics.

Register by clicking below and filling out a very brief form. Due to high demand, the panel will be fully virtual via Zoom Webinar! As always, feel free to reach out to cat@wfu.edu with questions.

If you're interested in continuing the conversation beyond the panel, you can register to join the AI & Education Google Group by clicking the button below!

Rubik's Cube Challenge

Join colleagues this summer for the Rubik's Cube Challenge: An Expert Blindspot Adventure! Our recent experience with pandemic teaching has thrust us into novel learning environments and forced us to consider how best to learn under such conditions. One common challenge of expert instructors is understanding the learning needs of novice students, known as an expert blind spot.

In this challenge, which will run May 8th - August 1st and be fully virtual through Canvas, participants will learn how to solve the Rubik's Cube with a group of colleagues and gain insight about the learning (and teaching) process. We will provide the cube, as well as weekly tips, strategies, and reflection and discussion prompts shared via an online discussion platform.

Already know how to solve the cube? You can still participate by selecting a new skill/concept challenge and sharing your adventure with the group! For more details about the challenge and to sign up, visit the link below. Please register by May 1st so we have enough time to get you your Cube!

THANK A COLLEAGUE
Spring Semester

THANK YOU

Send a Note of Gratitude!

The Thank a Colleague program is a Center for the Advancement of Teaching initiative designed to allow faculty and staff to recognize your colleagues' efforts and let them know they are making a difference.

You fill out a form online and we take care of everything else! Your note is sent to the colleague you are thanking at the end of the semester. You may choose to remain anonymous or share your name as part of your note.

The time it takes to say "thank you" can be brief, but the impact it has is far greater than you may realize. Choose someone to thank today!

Please submit your notes of gratitude by May 5th!

SPRING WORKSHOPS

Managing Student Learning Assessment for Academic Programs

This workshop is designed for those leading the assessment of student learning for academic programs, such as department chairs and assessment and curriculum committee members.

You will have an opportunity to share assessment processes, review examples of assessment reports, and discuss questions and challenges associated with conducting meaningful assessment that leads to learning improvement in your program.

Wednesday, April 19
3:30pm - 4:45pm
Facilitator: Anita McCauley
665 Wilson Wing, ZSR Library

Get Out of Your Classroom: Some Nontraditional Learning Spaces on Campus!

In case you missed it, be sure to take a moment to read our Director of Educational Development, Dr. Kristi Verbeke's most recent blog post, Get Out of Your Classroom: Some Nontraditional Learning Spaces on Campus! based on a walking tour she led for a New Faculty Learning Community last fall. She uncovers all the hidden gems (and some in plain sight!) on Reynolda Campus as well as Wake Downtown.

Keep an eye out for a new post by Dr. Karen Singer-Freeman, our Director of Research, coming up next!
