

Fall Study Abroad Housing Agreement

Residential students who participate in study abroad/away are still subject to the residency requirement, with their semester abroad counting towards the six-semester requirement.

Students with less than six semesters of housing credit should not make any plans to live off-campus unless they have been released in writing from the residency requirement by the Office of Residence Life and Housing.

- Students studying abroad during the fall semester will NOT select housing during Housing Selection. Instead, students abroad for the fall semester will select their housing for the spring semester online in December.
- Students returning from study away programs in the fall have limited housing options for the spring and are often placed into rooms with open beds, meaning they may be living with new roommates.
- Students studying abroad for the fall semester should plan to live on-campus unless they have been released in writing from the residency requirement by the Office of Residence Life and Housing.

- In November we will open the Spring Semester Housing Application. At this time students may begin forming roommate groups and enter the off-campus lottery.
- In Mid-December, you will be required to self-select your actual spring room and meal plan. Note: Options will be limited, and you are not guaranteed a roommate of choice.
- An e-mail from the Office of Residence Life and Housing will be sent to your WFU e-mail account with log-on times.
- This e-mail will contain specific instructions on self-selecting your spring room and meal plan.
