

GRACE BAUER ('26)

Major: Classical Languages with Concentration in Latin

What are your plans for after graduation?

After graduation, I am working for my congressional district's representative as a staff assistant before applying to law school for the 2027 admissions cycle.

What is your happiest memory from the department and studying classics?

My happiest memory in the department was working alongside Dr. Sloan to build his Latin website several hours a week during my senior year. We had many talks about life, Latin, and our days. I learned a great deal about far more than grammar during the year, and I am infinitely grateful for that time!

What will you miss most?

I will miss walking through the professors' offices, knowing that I can stop in for a chat anytime. I will miss the coffees and dinners I have had with members of the department and the laughs I had in class with my cohort over the years.

KATRINA HU ('26)

*Major: Chemistry with Concentration in Medicinal Chemistry and Drug Discovery; Classical Studies
Minor: Studio Art*

What are your plans for after graduation?

I will be getting my MD at Harvard Medical School!

What is your happiest memory from the department and studying classics?

My happiest memories from the department are going to see the Parthenon in Athens as a part of the Greece Study Abroad Program with THM and Dr. Mars. In regards to studying classics as a whole, I loved being able to study abroad in Rome as a part of The Centro (ICCS Rome). Roman history and material culture is my favorite dimension of classics, and seeing sites like Pompeii and the Forum in person was fascinating and awe-inspiring!

What will you miss most?

I will miss nerding out with my friends and peers about classics -- in book clubs, class, and classics club!

LIVI WEBSTER ('26)

*Majors: Biology, Latin
Minor: Chemistry*

What are your plans for after graduation?

I will be pursuing a Master's in Bioethics at the Harvard Medical School and plan on attending medical school in the near future.

What is your happiest memory from the department and studying classics?

My favorite memory from the classics department is forming close relationships with my peers and professors

What will you miss most?

Similarly, I will miss the amazing the professors and my classmates the most

TABITHA SURIN ('26)

Major: Economics, Classical Languages Latin

What are your plans for after graduation?

I am working in Private Wealth Management at Goldman Sachs in Chicago.

What is your happiest memory from the department and studying classics?

My happiest memory was taking Greek with Dr. Mars. I loved having class discussions about the text, as well as debating different papers from Classicists about it. It was great to connect with the text in various ways and to understand other people's perspectives. It also allowed our class to grow close!

What will you miss most?

I will miss connecting with classmates who share my interests and learning from professors who are incredibly passionate about what they teach. I feel that the Classics department has a strong bond and culture, which I will definitely miss after Wake.

SIDNEY WHITE ('26)

Majors: Psychology, Sociology

Minor: Classical Studies

What are your plans for after graduation?

I will be attending graduate school at Wake Forest University to pursue my Master's in Counseling.

What is your happiest memory from the department and studying classics?

I really enjoyed all of my Latin classes! Working with a variety of professors and collaborating with classmates to translate passages was especially fulfilling.

What will you miss most?

I will miss the tight-knit community within the Classics department the most.

ZOE HIRSHFELD ('26)

Majors: Classical Languages Latin, Economics

What are your plans for after graduation?

After graduation, I plan to spend a gap year teaching 7th grade Latin before going on to law school.

What is your happiest memory from the department and studying classics?

My happiest memories have by far been meeting the community of Classicists I've spent so much time with! Both the professors and fellow students have made my time in the department so joyful.

What will you miss most?

I'll miss having the constant exposure to them, as they've pushed me to grow academically and personally.
