In 1946, Nancy Hyde Easley became the first female senior orator.

WAKE FOREST

UNIVERSITY

Founded in 1834 by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, Wake Forest Institute opened on February 3, 1834, on the Calvin Jones plantation in Wake County, North Carolina. Principal Samuel Wait welcomed 16 students that first year. Four years later, the school was rechartered as Wake Forest College.

The School of Law was founded in 1894, followed by the opening of a two-year medical school in 1902. The medical school moved to Winston-Salem in 1941 to become associated with the North Carolina Baptist Hospital and was named the Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

In 1946, the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation offered significant ongoing financial support to move the rest of the College to Winston-Salem. Charles and Mary Reynolds Babcock donated much of the R.J. Reynolds family estate as the site for the new campus. Following the groundbreaking in 1951, the first 14 buildings were constructed during the next five years. The move to Winston-Salem took place during the summer of 1956.

Wake Forest was exclusively a college for men until World War II, when women were admitted for the first time. The trustees voted to end segregation in 1961. That same year, the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences was established. Wake Forest achieved university status in 1967.

The Babcock Graduate School of Management opened in 1969 and added the Charlotte campus in 1995. The undergraduate program in business and accountancy, which began in 1948, was reconstituted as the School of Business and Accountancy in 1980. The school was named in honor of Board of Trustees Chair Wayne Calloway ('59, LLD '88) in 1995. In 2009, the two schools merged to become the Wake Forest School of Business.

The medical school was renamed the Wake Forest University School of Medicine in 1997 to more closely reflect its affiliation with the University. The School of Divinity opened in 1999.

CARILLON PRELUDE

"In Fantasia on a Theme of Wake Forest, I wanted to make a sonic symbol of Wake Forest that could be played on the Harris carillon, an iconic installation of the campus soundscape. I decided to write the word "WAKE" in musical notes. 'A' and 'E' are easy enough to find on the keyboard, but 'W' and 'K' are not naturally occurring in the scales of Western music. However, I found that if I started at the lowest 'A' on the keyboard and moved up by a step, making each key correspond to a letter of the alphabet, the letter 'W' landed on the pitch B and 'K' landed on the pitch D; the letters 'A' and 'E' could simply correspond to the pitches with the same name. Suddenly, I had a melodic fragment: B—A—D—E. More significant than a fragment, though, the fantasia is based on only those four pitches. Thus, this fantasia is Wake Forest from beginning to end."
